Call for Artists for Artistar Jewels 2018

June 13, 2017 / by Giulia Minero / 0 Comment

February 2018, in contemporary with Milan's Fashion Week, marks the start of the fifth edition of Artistar Jewels, the international showcase of designer jewellery dedicated to press and buyers featuring creations by young talents. The works exhibited at Artistar Jewels will be more than 300, selected for their features, emotional appeal and stylistic research by an expert committee made of fashion journalists, fashion designers, jewelry experts, teachers from the Scuola Orafa Ambrosiana and creatives from important jewelry brands.

Good news for young designers! At the time we write, early June 2017, the call for artists is open! The three winners of the contest will have the chance to participate for free to the 2019 edition of Artistar Jewels and publish special contents on the official book issued in 2019. Moreover, one of the young participants to the exhibition will have the unique chance to participate for free to professional goldsmithing classes by Milan's Scuola Orafa Ambrosiana.

Those interested in participating to the call for artists should send their participation request to info@artistarjewels.com. Further information will be currently updated on the official website.
